Data protection

By submitting your email address and responses to our questions, you will have provided information about yourself ('personal data'). We (the University of Oxford) are the 'data controller' for this information, which means we decide how to use it and are responsible for looking after it in accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation and associated data protection legislation.

How we use your data

Your data will be used only by the research team to contact you to arrange for an interview. Email addresses will be stored separately from the information you have provided to the questions above and will be deleted after the interview. If you are not selected to participate in this study, your email address and responses to the above questions will be deleted and will not be stored. We are processing your data for these purposes only because you have given us your consent to do so, by ticking the box at the bottom of this page.

Access to your data within the University will be provided to those who need to view it as part of their work in carrying out the purposes described above.

We will only retain your data for as long as we need it to meet our purposes, including any relating to legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

Your data will be held securely in accordance with the University's policies and procedures. Further information is available on the University's Information Security website.

Where we store and use your data

We store and use your data on University premises, in electronic and manual form. Electronic data may be transferred to, and stored at, a destination outside the European Economic Area ("EEA"), as the study runs in the UK, Italy, Malaysia and Thailand. Such transfers will only take place if one of the following applies:

- the country receiving the data is considered by the EU to provide an adequate level of data protection;
- the organisation receiving the data is covered by an arrangement recognised by the EU as providing an adequate standard of data protection e.g. transfers to companies that are certified under the EU US Privacy Shield;
- the transfer is governed by approved contractual clauses;
- the transfer has your consent;
- the transfer is necessary for the performance of a contract with you or to take steps requested by you prior to entering into that contract; or
- the transfer is necessary for the performance of a contract with another person, which is in your interests.

Your rights

Information on your rights in relation to your personal data are explained here.
